Captain of Chinese Cruiser Lost With His Vessel.

SUNK BY MAIL STEAMER

Empress of India, a Canadlan Pacific Wallroad Steamer, Saved 170 of Oruiser's Crew After Impact Which Sent Her to Bottom

HONG KONG, Aug. 18.—The Canadian Pacific Railroad steamer Empress of India, from Vancouver, B. C., July 27th, and Yokohuma, August 10th, for Hong Kong, collided near this port to-day with the Chinese cruiser Huang Tal. The warship sank an hour after the collision. The Empress of India saved 170 of the erew of the cruiser. The captain of th Huang Tal, who refused to leave his ship, and thirteen of her crew, were drowned. The Empress of India was badly damaged amidships.

The Huang Tal was a tender to the naval angineering college of the South-ern Chinese, squadron at Nanking. She was of 2,110 tons displacement, 260 (cot was of 2,110 tons displacement, 269 toes tong, had 36 feet beam and drew 20 feet of water. The cruiser was built in England. She had a complement of 369 men. The Empress of India, also constructed in England, is one of the finest vessels of the Canadian Pacific Railroad Company. Sie is 440 feet long and is over 2,000 tons net register.

(By Associated Press.)

MONTREAL, Aug. 18.—In an official explanation of the collision between the steamer Empress of India and the Chinese cruiser Huang Tai, the Canadian Pacific Railway officials say the two vessels were running parallel courses about midnight, when, without warning, the captain of the Chinese cruiser suddenly tried to cross the bow of the Empress of India. The latter's captain immediately manaceuvred so that the collision, which be knew would be the result, should be a glancing one. The bow of the cruiser sild along the side of the Empress, but the starboard propeller of the Empress caught the cruiser and interest in a few minutes.

Dear Madame,—Your of the 0th instant just received. Enclosed I hand you check, New York Exchange, for Ill, contribution by our camp to the Jefferson Davis Monument fund.

I hope to live to see it unveiled, and wish we could make it the grandest monument on earth. Of all monuments the South has built, this one will do most to defend the truth of history and the justice of our cause when the last Confederate veteran has gone, and future historians, seeking impartially to do him and us justice, stand under its shadow and read the inscription it will give. God bless his memory and our dear women.

Very respectfully.

Under that floor there are many pipes that have been there for years, and that have, in the opinion of the gas department men, been eaten away through electrolysis and other phenomena. There is no leakage, so far as has been discovered, until after the gas passes the meters, and the plan for stopping this leakage, as suggested by Mr. Shelton, is to disconnect the pipes under the basement floor from the meters, leave them there, and connect the lights above by an entirely new arrangement.

The City Engineer's department will take the matter in hand at once, and the evil will be remedied before the winter season, when gas is extensively used at the City Hall.

Don't "Butt In."

The individual who "butts in" stands an excellent chance to be boosted out with more colerity than consideration. He is a persona non grata everywhere. He is the successor of the person who used to "stick his nose into other people's butless"—the man who was "too fresh," the individual who "talked too much with his mouth," He now "butts in."

Unfortunately, the rebull which he receives does not in the least discourage him. He escapes the fool killer with a facility which almost justifies the belief that he is under the protection of a special providence, He continues to "butt in" everywhere, giving unsought advice, administering impertinent reproof, oblituing his wishes where they are not wanted, making a nuisance of himself from early morn till dewy eve.

He has a black eye most of the time, his nose is sore from continual haumering, and his trousers are torn and dirty as the result of being thrown down states with the end of time, for God hath made him so.—Chicago Tribure.

The Real Street-Car Hog. The Real Street-Car Hog.

The street-car hog in Memphis is not the end-seat man, but the fellow who crosses his legs and extends his feet cross the alsie, or, turning sideways, sticks them into his neighbor's spuce, aftentimes brushing his neighbor's trouser therewith. There are a number of people in this town who ought to be sent to some school where they could learn how to sit properly and otherwise behave themselves in street cars.—Memphis Commercial-Appeal.

As to William H. Taft.

The plain fact is that William H. Taft is a man of presidential size. But the presidency is bespoken on the present occasion, and the new experience that Judge Taft would get in two or three years at the War Department and in the Cabinet room might be very useful to him and to the country later on.—Hartford Courant.

As soon as the ordinance becames a law by the signature of the Mayor, the city cierk will advertise the franchise for sale for four consecutive weeks. In the meantime a joint committee of the Conscil will be appointed to sell it to the highest bidder, in accordance with the provisions of the Constitution.

Then those who have been instrumental in having the ordinance adopted, if they are the successful purchasers of the franchise, will begin at once to erect the plant and get into business.

It is claimed by the gentlemen interested that the company does not contemplate a big revenue, but wants to give service at low figures.
